

NEWS NOTES from MOVIELAND

6V DAISY DEAN

Hatred, duplicity, love, remorse and self-sacrifice—all in the heart of one woman, all centered and focussed on one man, in one day. Such is the theme that gives Bessie Barriscale some rare acting opportunities, in the forthcoming Triangle feature, "Bullets and Brown Eyes."

William Desmond is the masculine intruder who comes into the life of the heroine portrayed by Miss Barriscale, and is saved from a sudden and violent end at the hands of her relatives only by the fact that she decides she needs him alive more than her country needs him dead.

Two nations which have as yet no place on any map are revealed at war in this latest production of Thomas H. Ince, and some remarkable scenes of fighting with the most modern engines of warfare are promised.

"Ham and Bud" Perform Miracle.

From England comes one of the most amazing stories of the motion picture in war times that has yet been chronicled.

It tells of a wounded British soldier, robbed of his speech by a gas bomb, and invalided home. He attended a picture theatre where a "Ham and Bud" comedy was being shown and was so amused by the comedians that his speech was suddenly restored.

Detailed accounts of the seeming miracle which appeared in English papers were forwarded to the Kalem company, which has also received strong assurances from English representatives of the authenticity of the story.

Charlie Chaplin in a New Role.

Charlie Chaplin had a motion picture taken of him signing that new year's contract for $870,000.

Those who have seen the picture express disappointment. Chaplin went through the entire ceremony of signing without falling down stairs, upsetting the desk or kicking the other party to the contract on the shins. Several other persons were in the room, including a stenographer whom he did not kiss, and not one of them was assaulted.

Bessie Barriscale.

Very few child actresses ever keep their fame when they grow up. Bessie Barriscale is one of the few. Miss Barriscale can write poetry as well as act, and a volume of her poems will soon be published.

Being annoyed by the presence of so many sharks during the time when they were "mermaidizing" in William Fox's Annette Kellerman picture, the girl swimmers employed a man to explode dynamite in the waters of St. Anne's Bay, Jamaica. At one of the banquets held by the mermaids, shark's fins prepared by a Chinese chef, formed the one best bet on the menu.

William Gillette has signed with Esanay and will appear in many of his well known plays, including "Sherlock Holmes" and "Secret Service." Mr. Gillette will begin work on the first of these very shortly.

byplay and invention. Local patrons of the theatre don't have to ponder long in making up their minds about attending a play when Cohan and Harris announce one of their successes. Having established a country-wide reputation for excellency in the production of successes, this firm has surpassed all previous efforts with "It Pays to Advertise." It's one of those plays that can't be told about in cold type. It must be seen to be appreciated, and that it has been appreciated is vouched for by its year's run in New York. Among the skilled players who will be seen in the local engagement are Elsie Glynn, M. J. Sullivan, Gertrude Leland, James I. Mitchell, Daniel A. Anderson, James J. Gardner, Ruby Harriman, H. N. Dudgeon, Felix McClure, Doris Jordan, Page Spencer and Mason Emerson.

AT SPENCER SQUARE. "Pudd'nhead Wilson," one of Mark Twain's immortal stories, will be presented in photodramatic form by the Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play company at the Spencer Square theatre today and tomorrow, with the distinguished artist, Theodore Roberts, in the title role. It is a Paramount picture. The story has to do with Lawyer Wilson, a young man, who has come to a small Missouri town to practice. On his first day in the little village he makes the famous remark that if he owned one-half of a dog he would kill his hilt. The natives could not grasp the humor of this and decided that the young lawyer was not right and this, coupled with his eccentricities of speech and his hobby for securing thumb prints from everyone with whom he came in contact, induced one of the town wits to call him "Pudd'nhead," a nickname that remained with him throughout his life.
